WONDERFUL UNANIMITY.

According to the reasoning of Judge Rust there will be, if anything, a reduction of pay to the justices and constables of this county by his decision, as there was an opportunity under the fee schedule to pile up costs indefinitely. The dispatch hopes that the decision will stand, and that the auditor will accept the decision as final, and pay the salary demands as they are presented.—Amador Dispatch.

It is not yet determined whether the auditor will appeal from the decision of the judge, but it is to be hoped that he will not, because the consensus of opinion is that the law is just one; that it gives a fair remuneration to a public servant, and should be enforced when and where the makers designed.—ECHO.

Now that the superior court has held that the salary should be paid, we trust that the auditor and district attorney will not try to wear out the township officers by appealing the case to the supreme court. We hope that auditor Culbert and his legal advisor can see their way clear to get the township officers the well-earned small salaries.—Amador Record

We publish the above as a psychological curiosity. Men versed in mental science say that no two minds can think alike. Here we have all our cotemporaries dropping into the same groove of thought, adopting substantially the same language, and giving expression to their views at practically the same time. Remarkable coincidence! We often hear of "two hearts that beat as one," but the spectacle of three editors within a radius of twelve miles directing their "hopes" simultaneously in the same channel is a fact not to be gauged by the ordinary laws of mental science. However suggestive it may be in itself, it is not for us to inquire what hypnotic spell moved them to travel the same mental pathway. The Ledger is not "in" on this peculiar combine. We must remark, however, that this identity of thought only extends to the hope that the justice's salary suit will not be appealed. When they start in to give reasons for thus hoping, their views become not only divergent but actually conflicting. Thus, one writer says the law gives only a fair remuneration to a public servant. Another editor, who had the decision in extenso before him, says there will be, if anything, a reduction of pay to the justices and constables under the new law. Now, just fancy the township officers, some of whom were resigning and declining under the old law because it did not give enough compensation, actually starting a nandamus proceedings in their anxiety to collect under the new law which effects a reduction in their pay? Was ever such a self-sacrificing spirit known before. In justice to the logic of the decision itself, we beg to state that the document nowhere ventures the opinion that the pay of the justice is likely to be cut down by the salary scheme. It does discuss how few cases it would take under the fee system to make more than the salary provided by the act in controversy. Into this domain, however, it is inadvisable to pursue the subject.

Our cotemporaries seem to look at the matter—like a lawyer arguing a case—from a one-sided standpoint. They talk of the hardship that will be entailed upon the officials directly concerned by appealing the case. They do not stop to consider what hardship may possibly result to innocent parties from a failure to appeal. Justices and constables are under bonds. If they draw money from the county treasury that they are not legally entitled to, they are liable on their official bonds for the amount thereof. Is it just and right to throw upon these bondsmen the ultimate responsibility of a failure to take the case to the court of last resort. Suppose the matter is allowed to rest, so far as Amador is concerned, in its present indecisive shape, and that township officers are permitted under the judgment of the trial court to draw the salaries provided for in the act. And suppose some other county appeals the matter to the supreme court, and that tribunal finally holds that the constitution is a bar to the claim of present incumbents for salary under the act. Into what a delightful condition of confusion this would plunge things? Who would be called upon to refund the money so illegally paid out? Would not the responsibility attach all along the line—the treasurer for paying the warrants, the auditor for issuing the same, and finally the justices and constables as the beneficiaries of the illegal payments. In this dilemma, the path of safety for all concerned lies in settling the question as quickly as possible by an appeal to the supreme court. If the matter calls for a settlement by the courts at all, it is incumbent to stop at no half-way measures, but to settle it so that it will stay settled.

Pope Leo XIII expired on the afternoon of 21st instant, at the age of 94 years. He died from the burden of years. For 25 years he filled the honored position of head of the Catholic church on earth, and filled in with such a rare combination of virtue, ability and grace as to command the respect and esteem of the civilized world. With the single exception of his immediate predecessor Pius IX—who reigned 32 years—his occupancy of the papal chair for 25 years is without a parallel in history. The conclave to elect his successor will convene August 1st.

SUICIDED IN OAKLAND.

D. D. Matron Takes His Life while Despondent Over His Wife's Illness.

The Examiner of the 19th contains the following relative to the sad end of one of Jackson's oldest and most respected citizens:

Unable to bear the prospect of a dissolution of the marital ties which had bound him for 64 years, threatened by the serious illness of his wife, D. D. Matron, 86 years of age, a pioneer and well known resident of Jackson, Amador county, took his own life shortly before 9 o'clock on the night of July 18 by shooting himself in the right temple with a revolver.

As was his yearly custom, he had come to Oakland to escape the intense heat of his home, and he was visiting his grandson, Frank Poulter, of San Pablo avenue, between 43d and 45th streets.

For some time his own health had been gradually declining as the result of chronic heart disease, and added to this trouble, his wife was stricken with pneumonia about four weeks ago. As the wife improved, however, the husband grew worse, until yesterday, when in a fit of despondency, he remarked to his grandson: "Frank, it has come to the point when I have to live standing or not at all." Yet the old man appeared to be bearing up bravely, when on his crutches he hobbled to the bedside of his wife and tried to soothe and cheer her.

It was not ten minutes after he had left the bedroom that Poulter heard a shot at the front of the house, and rushing out, found his grandfather huddled in a puddle of blood on the porch steps, with a bullet wound in his right temple. He had evidently propped himself against the porch with his crutches, and fired the revolver while in that position.

The following note, in the handwriting of the deceased, was found in his pocket:

I want no inquest, as this is a voluntary act to get out of misery. I want to be cremated. I thank you all. May good health be yours. My condition is such I must go. God bless them. I can't stand this ordeal. This deed must be done. Good-bye. D. D. MATRON.

Deceased came to California with his wife over 50 years ago from Berkshire, Vt., and settled in Jackson, where he pursued his trade of carpenter and builder. He was an expert mechanic, and under his direction the original flumes of the Amador canal and other large works were constructed. Besides a widow, he leaves two children—Myron S. Matron of Jackson, and Mrs. E. Poulter of Oakland—as well as six grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

AUKUM NEWS.

AUKUM, July 7.—Sunday afternoon Edgar Malone's 10 year old son, one of the twins, was out in the woods herding goats, and while in the act of jumping across a ditch, dragging a 22-rifle after him, it exploded and the bullet entered the fleshy part of the thigh from the back. Dr. Tiffany was sent for, but he could not locate the bullet, it being night when the examination was made. Monday morning Mrs. Malone took the boy to Plymouth to try and locate the lead extracted.

Ed. Mills fell and broke his hip in a very critical place. He was leaving their store room and turned to close the door. His legs seemed to crumple and give way and he fell down two steps to the ground. Dr. Tiffany of Plymouth was called, and he is doing well at this writing.

Mrs. Aldrich of San Francisco came up to the home of her parents to help care for her brother, Ed. Mills. Bertha Hall is in very poor health. She is under the care of Dr. Tiffany. John Humphrey's youngest son, Charlie, had a very bad attack of cholera infantum this week. The doctor has made several trips to treat him and does not consider him as yet out of danger.

Louie Seely and wife have gone to Shenandoah to live for the summer. J. B. Farnsworth and wife have been on the sick list, but are up and around again. Mr. Farnsworth has been poorly for a long time. W. A. L.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Amateur Baseball Game.

Last Sunday the people were treated to lots of fun in witnessing a game of baseball from two improvised nines gathered from the business places of Jackson, and dubbed the Hostlers and the Biscuit Slingers. The novelty of the contest combined with the genial weather drew a large crowd to the grounds, the grand stand being filled with lady onlookers. The game was not exciting on account of the rival teams being evenly matched, as it was evident early in the game that the Hostlers were hustlers, and outclassed their opponents. Still there was a lively interest manifested in the play, and both sides displayed a deftness in handling the ball that commanded the plaudits of the spectators. At the close of the eighth innings the Biscuit team concluded that the battle was a hopeless one, and resigned, the score standing 20 to 13 in favor of the Hostlers. Both sides were pretty well fagged at the close, and were glad to get back to town and partake of refreshments liberally provided for victors and vanquished alike.

During the game each player received his portion of the joshing which was constantly going on, and the umpire did not fail to get his share as well. Taken as a whole the game was above expectations, and the crowd was well satisfied with the two hours' amusement. A return game is expected one week from next Sunday. The Biscuit Slingers will have strengthened their team by that date, and will go in to win.

Amador Lumber for Australia.

The Amador Lumber Company has contracted for 250,000 feet of sugar pine lumber to be shipped to Australia. The first instalment of this order was forwarded from Ione last week, consisting of 60,000 feet. Some of the finest sugar pine to be found anywhere exists in the forests of Amador county. This lumber commands a high price, both at home and abroad. Notwithstanding the high cost of transportation, owing to distance from railroad and seaboard, this kind of lumber is bound to come into market sooner or later. There is a great demand for building lumber in Australia, there being a total absence of soft woods in that country. In the event of this initial shipment proving satisfactory, it may lead to the opening up of a large and profitable trade in that class of lumber. The Amador Lumber Company's sawmill is kept running steadily, turning out lumber in larger quantity than heretofore. There has been no hitch in the output so far, and the season promises to be an unusually prosperous one. Teams are hauling the product to the yard on Sutter hill, to the Ione depot, and to the various mines of the mother lode.

Ladies shampooing will be done as well as children's hair-cutting. The management will make these features a specialty.

Anderson Leaves Globe Hotel.

E. Anderson, the genial proprietor of the Globe hotel for the past five years, left Jackson rather unceremoniously this morning. From all appearances, it looks as if he had no intention of returning, but rumor has it that he went below regarding the sale of the hotel business, which he has been trying to dispose of for several months. He is involved financially, owing a number of business men, as well as being behind with his help. Yesterday all the employees served notice on Anderson that they would refuse to work after last night unless money due them was paid. P. Dwyer, owner of the hotel, made arrangements that held them for the time being. The personal property owned by Anderson is mortgaged to three or four of the principal creditors. Mr. Dwyer is temporarily in charge awaiting developments.

BOARD OF EQUALIZATION.

Only Two Applications for Reduction of Assessment, and Both Denied.

The county fathers met as a board of equalization on Monday, July 20; all the members being present.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

A. Caminetti appeared in behalf of the application of W. A. Nevills, for a reduction of the assessment on the Moore mine, near Jackson, from $35,000 to $20,000.

W. A. Nevills was sworn and examined in support of the application. He said the property was in the same condition it was a year ago; no development work done, no improvements made. It was held under an agricultural title, and therefore had no extralateral rights. The improvements made years ago were depreciated and out of date; they were assessed at $5,000, he would sell them for $1000.

Assessor Marchant stated that the valuation this year was based on the sale of the property last year, when it was sold to Mr. Nevills for $70,000; the assessment was made at 50 per cent of the value as determined by that sale.

Mr. Nevills explained the reasons that led him to bid up the property to those figures; he had to bid it in to protect his interests in other directions; he and his partner owned four-sixths of the mine; so that he had only to put up two-sixths of the purchase price in cash, representing the interest held by the opposing bidders. The sale was in no way a fair criterion of the value of the property.

A. Caminetti addressed the board at length in favor of the reduction asked. He compared the assessment in this instance with the valuation placed upon other mining property, showing that some fully equipped mines were assessed for far less than the Moore property. He was not blaming the assessor for dealing leniently with these mines; he believed it was the right course to pursue. But he did contend, in face of all the facts, that the application for a reduction in the case under consideration should be granted.

On motion of D. Burke the matter was continued until half-past 1 o'clock.

The petition of John H. Springer, asking for a reduction on the Wildman Gold Mining Company from $85,000 to $50,000 was then taken up. The petition stated that the trust deed covering this property, and which was assessed for its face value of $85,000, was of the actual value of $50,000, and the reduction was asked under the rule that the security should not be assessed at a valuation in excess of the property given as security.

By a unanimous vote of the board the application was denied.

At adjournment was then taken until 1:30 p. m.

Upon reconvening M. Newman moved that the petition of W. A. Nevills be granted. The motion was not seconded.

M. Newman then moved that the assessment be reduced to $25,000; seconded by L. Burke. Motion lost by the following vote: Ayes—Newman, Burke, Noes—Amick, Grillo, Moore.

No further business appearing the board adjourned sine die.

[The careful reader will not fail to notice from the above report that no official action has been taken on the Nevills' petition; that petition was neither granted nor rejected; it was never put to a vote. It stands practically in the same position that it did before the board met; and the board has adjourned sine die without disposing of the business on hand. We do not pretend to know the legal effect of this failure. Upon inquiry, we have been informed that upon reassembling in the afternoon the board held one of those so-called "executive" sessions which have become a feature of late. What was done at this private meeting of a public body we know not. Probably in the mix-up between the orthodox and heterodox method of doing business the official disposition of the petition was overlooked.]

In Charge of the Doctors.

Miss Mary Bernedich is confined to her bed from a serious attack of nervous prostration, brought on by overstudy. She lives with her parents near Murphy's Ridge, and was studying for the purpose of qualifying herself for school-teaching. She was studying under W. M. Fuller with the object of appearing before the board of education at the next examination of applicants for teachers' certificates. Last week she was compelled to desist from her studies, on account of the prejudicial effect upon her health. She has been under the care of Dr. Phillips for the past week. Her condition is steadily improving, and a complete recovery is looked for.

Mrs. Jas. Musbett was taken with a severe spell of sickness while at Mokelumne Hill last week, her husband being employed at a mine in that neighborhood. She was brought to her home in Jackson, and is fast recovering under the care of Dr. Phillips.

Ollie Roberson Instantly Killed.

A gloom was cast over Ione last Monday evening when it had been learned that Ollie Roberson, the fifteen year old son of S. E. Roberson, one of Ione's esteemed citizens, had been accidentally shot and instantly killed while out hunting.

Coroner Huberty went down the following morning and held an inquest, and from him we ascertained the particulars of the unfortunate affair.

Ollie Roberson, Paul Winters and Edward Waddell, boys about the same age, were out shooting doves, and were riding in a butcher cart. Ollie was standing behind the seat, on which the other two boys were seated, with a gun between them, the barrel extended upward. At about six o'clock when about three miles below Ione on Sutter creek, Winters jumped out of the cart to open a gate through which they were to pass. The horse, presumably frightened when Winters jumped out, gave a sudden start, which jerked the cart quite forcibly. In the meantime Ollie had taken hold of the gun with one hand to steady it when Winters got out. When the cart was jerked it threw the gun upward and backward, the trigger caught on the edge of the seat and discharged one barrel, the full charge striking young Roberson in the face and killing him instantly. The other boys did not at first realize what had happened, thinking Ollie had fired at a dove, he having made no sound or utterance when shot. As soon as the truth was learned the unfortunate boy was conveyed by his companions to the Roberson home where the grief stricken parents were told of the terrible death of their boy. The coroner's jury brought in a verdict of accidental death.

Drowned at Blue Lakes.

Pietro Rovelli was drowned last Friday evening in Middle Blue Lake while in bathing with several other men. The men were enjoying a swim after their day's work. Rovelli, who was a poor swimmer, kept near the shore, and without any warning he disappeared from sight, evidently taken with cramps caused by the cold temperature of the water. Immediate search for the body was commenced which was not recovered until the next morning. An inquest was held by the coroner of Alpine county, the verdict being accidental death. Undertaker Huberty went up and brought the body down, and arrived in Jackson ten o'clock Sunday night. The deceased was a native of Italy and about twenty-five years of age. He had lived in Jackson several years, was well known and had a large circle of friends, but had no relatives in this country. The funeral took place Monday afternoon under the auspices of Jackson Grove of Druids and Jackson Miners Union, he being a member of those organizations.

Jewel Bourbon vs. Mokelumne Hill.

The ball game at Mokelumne Hill last Sunday between the Jewel Bourbons of Jackson and the local nine was rather one-sided, but was pronounced a good game by the large crowd who witnessed the exhibition. Both nines had strengthened their line-up by putting in outsiders. The Jackson team, however, was too heavy for their opponents and carried off the laurels of the day. Score being as follows:

Catarrh of the Stomach.

When the stomach is overloaded; when food is taken into it that fails to digest, it decays and inflames the mucous membrane, exposing the nerves, and causes the glands to secrete mucus, instead of the natural juices of digestion. This is called Catarrh of the Stomach. For years I suffered with Catarrh of the Stomach, caused by indigestion. Doctors and medicines failed to benefit me until I used Kodol Dyspepsia Cure.—J. R. ## Rough Rider In Disguise.

Ever since President Roosevelt's visit to California, and more particularly since his exhibition of skilled horsemanship at the Presidio, every prominent politician in the State has been constantly practicing the rough-rider system, believing it necessary in politics, and further believing that "Teddy's" heavy head of hair was the result of this particular kind of recreation. A prominent attorney of Jackson, who is successful in politics and does not need to ride to gain political favors, must have had some object in view when he applied last week to Kelly's stable for the "meanest broncho" in the barn. The animal was forthcoming, and the attorney made the trip to a nearby mine in speed equal to the charge of "San Juan."

After earning a fat fee, the party of the first part mounted the broncho. It was only a moment ere the horse was riderless. He knew how to turn a trick, and the rough-rider learned how to turn somersaults. The horse came to town without a rider, and he of the "parting of the ways" came in on a maccaroni wagon, slightly disfigured and minus a year's growth of hair, the result of the brevity of the time of flight.
